
WHERE DID YOU FIRST LEARN ABOUT ACCOUNTING?

Whether it was talking to an aunt who's a CPA, seeing your parents do their taxes or by watching a TV show, what (or who) was your first "accounting teacher"? Try to remember your very first introduction to accounting. What did you think about it? Have those feelings changed now that you've taken an accounting class? Fill out the questions below to use in a class discussion.

What first taught me about accounting was:

My initial feelings about accounting were:

- | | |
|-------------------------------------|--|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Excited | <input type="checkbox"/> Disinterested |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Ambivalent | <input type="checkbox"/> Negative |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Curious | <input type="checkbox"/> _____ |

Now that I've taken an accounting course, my feelings have or haven't changed because...

BONUS:

Accounting is all around us. Think about all the places you see accounting in your life. In the world at large. How does it affect your day-to-day experience? The more unexpected and less obvious your examples are, the better. Make a list on the back of this sheet to help fuel a deeper class discussion.
